

3 MONEY

“Well, it’s no trick to make a lot of money... if all you want to do is make a lot of money”

BERNSTEIN, CITIZEN KANE

Charles Foster Kane (Orson Welles) dies very rich and totally alone, his final word, Rosebud, alluding to the last time he was truly happy – his childhood. Sometimes we all get a little caught up chasing the dollar, but take a step back and smell the roses.

LEARNING FROM EXPERIENCE

“Oh yes, the past can hurt. But the way I see it, you can either run from it, or learn from it”

RAFIKI, THE LION KING

Rafiki may only be an animated mandrill, but he knows what he’s talking about. Learning from the past is sound advice. It can be trivial, like remembering where to get a good coffee, or significant, like returning home to do battle with the evil uncle who killed your father.

5 HEIGHT

Lack of feet and inches can be a touchy subject, but needn’t be. Ask Leo Messi, just shy of 5ft 7in and one of the world’s best footballers. Ever. And that’s without the force.

“Size matters not. Look at me. Judge me by my size, do you? Hmm? Hmm. And well you should not. For my ally is the Force, and a powerful ally it is”

YODA, STAR WARS EPISODE V: THE EMPIRE STRIKES BACK

“The only way to bag a classy lady is to give her two tickets to the gun show... and see if she likes the goods”

RON BURGUNDY, ANCHORMAN

6 DATING

Where would an article about man advice be without a few sage words from number-one anchor, old Papa Burgundy (Will Ferrell)? Ron’s attempts to win over Veronica Corningstone with a trip to the gun show aren’t immediately successful, but once he displays his creative side with some maverick jazz-flute, she’s putty in his manly hands. The lesson here? It’s possible to be too macho – you have to find the right balance.
